~ TESTIMONIALS ~

Divino is a quaint little café that we just loved. We ate at our own pace outside & the food was fantastic. The staff was pleasant & the café was very clean. This is the kind of restaurant where you can go in your jeans, relax & eat like kings at an extremely reasonable price. We'll definitely be back... Can't say enough good things about it! A+++++ - Jenny & Keith Murrie

Service was awesome - it's family owned & you can tell that they take great pride in great customer service. The sausage on the pizza was fresh - high end ingredients are used. Save room for the Gelato, boy is that tasty. Our kids loved it & we loved it - we will go back. - Richard Arkenburg

A friend told me about Divino. So, last Friday night I ordered dinner for our family. It seemed like no sooner had I hung up from placing the order that your delivery driver was ringing my door!! Our dinner was awesome! Better than any of the fast-food chain stuff. Great prices! My family was able to enjoy quality delicious Italian food without breaking my budget & best of all I did not have to cook! You guys are a life saver. - Lori Torchia

Fresh, delicious fabulous food. Warm & friendly service. Great prices! - Lisa Hanlon

~ STROMBOLI & CALZONE ~

What is a Stromboli? Calzone?

Stromboli, often referred to as a "stuffed pizza" or a boli, is a turnover filled with mozzarella cheese along with various fillings, often pepperoni. The dough is pizza dough & a Stromboli is cooked in the same way as regular pizza. Strombolis are similar to Calzones, but traditionally the two are distinct dishes, as Strombolis usually contain only mozzarella cheese & marinara sauce inside, whereas a Calzone contains a cheese mixture (often including ricotta) & tend not to have a marinara sauce within them.

Calzone

Ricotta, parmesan, provolone & mozzarella cheese, spinach & our Divino's specially seasoned pizza sauce for dipping 6.75
Additional Toppings (ea) .99

Stromboli
